STREET RAILWAY

City Council Hold Special Meeting to Consider Granting of Franchise.

A special meeting of the Edmonton council was held Saturday evening to consider W. G. Trethewey's application for an Edmonton street railway franchise. Mayor Short and Councilors Gallagher, Grierson, Cushing, Heinemann, Fraser and Ross were present.

W. G. Trethewey, who was present, stated that his street railway company would agree to build two miles of the tramway along Jasper avenue from the police barracks west, next summer, construction to commence first thing in the spring.

A spur line of one mile would also be constructed to a coal mine, and coal would be carried to the city at reasonable rates. The street railway plant would also supply cheap motor power for the use of manufacturing enterprises in the city. On the tramway there would be a combined passenger and freight service. Eventually a belt line would be constructed all around the city. Mr. Trethewey offered to allow two hundred acres of his property on the west boundary of the corporation, to be taken into the town limits. He further offered to give one thousand of his own lots in the west end to the street railway company. He asked for a twenty years' franchise.

Several of the councilors thought it would be premature to dispose of the town's street railway franchise at the present time. Mr. Trethewey then offered the town one thousand lots if they would undertake the construction of the tram line.

It was finally decided to call a public meeting of the ratepayers on Thursday evening next at 8 o'clock in Robertson hall for the discussion of this matter. Mr. Trethewey will be present.

—Pleinddealer.—The meeting of the Alberta Poultry and Fat Stock Association, met in the town hall, on Wednesday, November 4th, and transacted important business. In the absence of the president, Mr. A. C. Rutherford, the chair was taken by the vice president, Mr. C. deW. McDonald, of Edmonton. The meeting all through was a very enthusiastic one, and great things are expected of this newly organized association. It was arranged to hold the first show of the association on January 25th and 26th. Full particulars can be secured of the officers or the secretary. The next meeting will be on November 18th, when the details of the coming show will be discussed fully.

TO WELCOME DUNDONALD

Lord Dundonald, commander-in-chief of the Canadian forces, will visit Edmonton the middle of the present month. A letter from Col. Evans, C.B., containing this information reached Mayor Short recently. The city council has already moved in the matter of extending a hearty welcome to him on his visit. Every possible effort will be made to make Lord Dundonald's visit to Edmonton a decided success.

RE-OPENING SERVICES

The McDougall Methodist Church Re-Opening a Great Success.

The services in connection with the re-opening of McDougall Methodist church, yesterday were a decided success. The seating accommodation of the church has been increased to two and a half times its former capacity, providing comfortable seating for five hundred people, and the Methodists now possess one of the finest auditoriums in the city. The repairs being made on the church are yet some distance from completion so that the building does not present as beautiful an appearance as it will when finished. At the morning service the church was fairly well filled and in the evening a large number of extra chairs had to be brought to seat the vast audience which crowded every part of the building.

Rev. Dr. Woodworth, Superintendent of Missions in the North-West, conducted the morning service. His sermon was based on the "Parable of the Talents," and was a thoughtful, practical plea for the improvement of the talents and opportunities with which God has entrusted each of us. Each man is entrusted with the kind of talent and ability which he is capable of handling. All talents should be devoted to the service of God, and a man's place of business should be his sanctuary as much as is the church. Sooner or later every man must make a report of the use made of his talents, or the misuse of them. God's reward for the use of talents is not rest coming from freedom from duty, but the rest coming from a fuller exercise of all our powers. The title to hold and maintain a talent is established by a man's ability to use it right. When nations, churches or individuals fail to show ability to use talents, these talents are taken from them and given to those who have proved their ability to use them.

Rev. Dr. Sutherland, the venerable Secretary of Missions for the Methodist Church of Canada, preached at the evening service. Before beginning his sermon, the doctor referred to his previous visits to Edmonton twenty-three and thirteen years ago, respectively, and expressed his great surprise and pleasure at the growth of the city. He congratulated the various religious denominations on their progressiveness in keeping pace with the growth of the city. The doctor took for his text Dan. 2:44, "And in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed; and the kingdom shall not be left to other people, but it shall consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand forever." The sermon was a logical and eloquent argument to prove that God's purpose through all the ages had been to set up a kingdom of peace, truth and righteousness, which will ultimately subdue all others. He emphasized strongly the idea that the former days were better than these and proved beyond the shadow of a doubt that at no time in the history of the world was Christ's kingdom so influential and powerful as at present.

The choir of the church fully sustained their reputation and the music was one of the special features at both services. In the morning the choir sang the anthem, "Praise ye the Lord," by Richards, and Mrs. Hoekley sang Jane Abbott's "Just for today." At the evening service the anthems were, "Gloria in Excelsis," from Mozart's Twelfth Mass, and "Foster's," "O, for a closer walk with God." Mrs. Green sang "The Plains of Peace," by Barnard.

The Methodist people are to be congratulated on the success which has attended their efforts to provide for the church accommodation of those who are making their home in the most progressive city of the west.

The doctor left this morning on his return east.

Rev. Father Lacombe, O.M.I., arrived last Saturday from Saddle Lake and St. Paul de Metis, his halfbreed colony. He was greatly impressed by the wonderful change of the country. Rev. Father Lacombe left today for Pincher Creek.

The marriage of Rhoda, third daughter of Mr. D. Woodward of New Westminster, B.C., to Robert Hodge late of Osageo Hall, Toronto, but now of Ferguson, B.C., was celebrated on the 31st of October, 1903, at the beautiful residence of W. Macdonald, manager of the Imperial Bank at that place. Owing to the fact that Ferguson is situated at a point in the interior which is difficult of access at this season of the year, relatives of the contracting parties were not able to be present. In the absence of the bride's father, her brother, Mr. E. U. Woodward, editor of the Lardens Eagle, gave her away. After the ceremony Mrs. Macdonald served a most delightful wedding supper in a manner which added to her already well-known reputation as a charming hostess. The newly married couple left for a trip through the Kootenays. The bride is a sister of Mrs. Graydon of this city.

PROVINCIAL AUTONOMY

I will just draw attention again to the difference in the status of the provinces and the status of the Territories in the matter of subsidy, which, as I said before, is the main matter. The total subsidy per head amounts in Ontario, to 96 1-3 cents, in Quebec to 96 cents, in Nova Scotia to 94 1-4 cents, in New Brunswick to $1.40, in British Columbia to $1.72, in Manitoba to $2.98 1-2, in Prince Edward Island to $2.95 1-2, and in the Northwest Territories, on the grant of this year, to $4.47 2-5. Now, unless our hon. friends are prepared to give us some definite assurance that we are not going to be placed in an inferior position financially to that which we occupy at the present time, I certainly cannot say that we are in favor of provincial autonomy, especially when it is held out to us that provincial autonomy means giving us provincial organization on the same footing as the provinces. We do not want it on those terms; we cannot afford to take it on those terms.

The argument has been made that the Territories should have control of their public lands and of their own resources in all ways, in order that they might be able to aid railways. I do not know where this idea emanated from just now; but I take the liberty of calling the attention of the House to the fact that as a result of the proceedings of this session, as far as it has gone, the Northwest is not doing badly in the matter of aid to railways. It stands at present to benefit by the credit of the country at large to the extent of some nine million dollars in regard to the Canadian Northern Railway and some twelve million dollars in regard to the Grand Trunk Pacific. It might be, if the Northwest Territories had control of their own lands they would be required to pledge those lands as aid to railways. I am in a position to say that it was with a definite desire of being able to do so in years gone by that the demand was then made for control of the lands. At a time when there was no railway extension in the Territories, when railway extension was very greatly needed, and when the lands of the Territories had been given and were being given to aid in the construction of railways not in the Territories at all. At that time the Territories did demand and require the control of their own lands for the purpose of aiding railways. But to-day, I submit, the position is very considerably altered. Today no lands in the Territories are being sold to speculators; to-day no lands in the Territories are being granted to railways. But railways are being provided in the Territories as they never were provided before—liberally and under satisfactory conditions. That reason, then, for the control of lands certainly does not exist.

As to the question whether there should be one province or two, I may point out that the bill which the Territorial premier has submitted provides for only one province. For my own part, considering the Territories in their present condition, with their present population, I have no hesitation in declaring myself in favor of only one province. But of the opposition which the hon. leader of the opposition has made between the Territories and the other parts of the Dominion does not hold. There is no other equal area of the Dominion which offers the same prospect of early settlement of an immense population as does the Territories; and it is a fair matter for consideration whether such a large area, if fully populated, might not be better divided into two or more provinces rather than be held as only one. I submit that at this moment, when there is a prospect of the early construction of two lines of railway across the Territories, through the most fertile part and the prospect of a very early and very large increase of population in that particular part of the country, which has until recent years been almost uninhabited, it is hardly opportune to decide on all questions relating to the manner of a final provincial organization.

ation. I beg to assure hon. gentlemen that the Territories are not in the state of excitement in regard to provincial organization which they seem to imagine.

It will be found that the people will be satisfied, whatever the politicians may be, or whatever may be those who would desire to exploit the resources of the country if placed in the hands of the local government, as they are not now permitted to do.

In regard to the treatment accorded to the premier of the Territories by the members of this government, I may say that I have had a long acquaintance with Mr. Haultain, and I am quite satisfied that he is able to protect himself. From my more brief acquaintance with the members of the government here, I believe they are able to take their own part, and that we can leave that matter to be settled between them. In regard to the people of the Northwest Territories, it is a different matter. The questions at issue are questions concerning them and interesting to them; and I am bound to say that the answer to the people of the Northwest Territories has been fairly satisfactory. It is contained in the main and supplementary estimates of the present session, totalling something like $1,940,000. This is the answer we want; this is the answer for which we asked; this is the answer which we received, and I beg to assure the House that, so far as it goes, it is decidedly satisfactory. Very much more so than would be any possible interchange of civilities that might have gone on between the representatives of the two governments.

Mr. SPROULE. If the people of the west are satisfied with what has been done this year, why does Premier Haultain say that they have never asked for the establishment of a capital account, and refuse to accept the money on that basis?

Mr. DAVIS. He called a special meeting of the assembly to vote $250,000, and they were in a hurry to vote it; they did not let the grass grow.

Mr. OLIVER. I am very glad my hon. friend interrupted me on this point, because I had nearly missed it. As I said before, the power which goes with provincial organization is the power of borrowing money. This is the power which the hon. leader of the opposition is most anxious to give to the people of the Northwest Territories. It and the power to sell the lands are apparently the only ones he is willing to give. In the memorandum which Mr. Haultain submitted to the government, it will be found that one of the grounds of complaint is that they are not permitted to draw on the future. He points out that extensive works are needed, and he complains that under their present status they are not permitted to draw on the future—to borrow money. That is his strong ground in demanding provincial organization, and now, when the government offers to advance, and does advance, a matter of $250,000, the opposition want to know why it is done, and say that nobody asked for it and that it will not be spent. Surely, this money is just as useful to the people of the Territories when advanced from the Dominion treasury as it would be if borrowed in the outside market. Surely, it will build as many public works. Besides, that, if they had borrowed it in the ordinary market, they would have had to pay interest, but by the present arrangement they are not required to pay interest, and indeed it is not at all certain, as the Minister of Finance pointed out, that they will ever have to pay back the principal; that is a matter which will be settled when a final provincial organization is arrived at.

I wish to point out to gentlemen on both sides, that it is not we who are objecting to provincial autonomy; we are asking provincial autonomy; but we want it on certain terms. It is those who are talking provincial autonomy, but are not willing to give it, who are really opposing it, because they will not give the terms that alone make provincial autonomy a practical and reasonable proposition.

Mr. SPROULE. Would it not be a proper thing to settle whether parliament is prepared to give it or not, and then arrange the details.

Mr. OLIVER. We understand that exactly. That is a view hon. gentlemen opposite take, but that is not the view we take.

Mr. SPROULE. You take the view that it should not be given on any terms.

Mr. OLIVER. Not at all, I said in this House last session, and this session, and I take the liberty of repeating it, that if the House will give the Northwest Territories the terms asked for in the drafted bill contained in these papers, I will certainly support it most strongly. We will all support it. These are the terms we want.

Mr. SPROULE. I did not wish to do the hon. gentleman personally any injustice. In making the statement I did, I referred to the government he supports. They are not prepared to give the autonomy on any terms.

Mr. OLIVER. I am not discussing what the government has done. The terms of this draft bill are what we want. That is what we want the government to do and that is what we want the opposition to say they will do—but they won't; they are very careful not to. The leader of the opposition spoke for two hours, but was careful to go around this point, and that gives us to understand that he does not mean to concede these terms. We do not expect we can get the terms unless we get some support from the other side of the House.

Mr. BORDEN (Halifax). You put through the Grand Trunk Pacific bill without any support from this side. Mr. OLIVER. I think the hon. gentleman (Mr. Borden, Halifax) must have forgotten that over half his followers did not vote against the Grand Trunk Pacific bill.

Mr. BORDEN (Halifax). All who were here did.

Mr. OLIVER. There were a great many who were not here. And the hon. gentleman will remember that it was stated in the debate last Saturday—if I may have the privilege of referring to it—that keeping away from the polls was an evidence of opinion as well as going to the polls.

I was discussing this question of debt, the provision which allows the Territories an advance of $250,000. And I refer to it because of the way the matter was alluded to in a previous debate by hon. gentlemen opposing. They seemed to think there was an intention to take advantage of the Territories in some way by compelling or impelling them to take a loan which they either did not want or did not require. I wish to point out that it was strictly in accordance with the wish expressed by the Northwest government and that it was placing them in practically the same financial position as if they were a province; except that they were able to borrow money without paying interest, while if they had provincial autonomy, they would have to pay interest on borrowed money.

I repeat that what the Territories want at the present time is adequate financial assistance with which to carry out their schools, their public works and the responsibilities of government which have been entrusted to their care. We are glad of any assistance that we receive from hon. members of the opposition in pressing these matters upon the government. We hope that the cohesiveness with which the opposition have viewed them in the past has given place now and for the future to deep interest, and that, therefore, we shall be able to depend upon the members of the opposition to aid us in impressing upon the government the needs of the Northwest Territories in their present status as long as it shall continue. But if our hon. friends expect to make political capital with the people of the Northwest Territories, or with the people outside of the Northwest Territories, by telling us they are in favor of provincial autonomy, but without providing adequate means for carrying on provincial organization, I am afraid they will find themselves under a mistake.

REVILLON FRERES' WAREHOUSE

The brickwork on Revillon Freres' large warehouse, 50x150, to the rear of their store, has been completed. Over seven hundred thousand bricks have been used in its construction. The concrete footings under the walls are four feet six inches wide and two feet deep. The front of the warehouse consists of three storeys and a full sized basement and the entire block is of solid brick. The first storey is fifteen feet high, the second storey, thirteen feet six inches, and the third storey, thirteen feet six inches. In the construction of the building after the concrete footings, are laid two courses of brick. The basement wall is twenty-six inches thick. All the walls of the first and second storeys are seventeen inches thick. The side walls of the third storey are thirteen inches thick, and the front and back walls seventeen inches thick. There is said to be more brick in this warehouse than in any other building in the city. The whole block has a very substantial appearance and is a credit to Edmonton, not particularly for its size, but for the faith the proprietors have in the future of our city. The work in this block was commenced September 5th and was completed on Saturday, November 7th. This is said to be one of the quickest jobs on record in the city. The contractors were Campbell and Spencer, Edmonton.

BEAVER LAKE EAST.

McAllister's thrasher is now owned by a syndicate of the settlers. Mr. Joseph McCallum is the general manager.

Rev. W. A. Rae preached here on the 1st. Mr. Gold took the services at Sickman Lake.

A break in the weather came on the night of the 2nd, the ground being white the next morning. The snow all disappeared by noon, but today is cold and wintry.

Mr. A. B. Mooney is laid up at present. While trying to put a heater on a broncho on the 30th ult., the animal got frightened and began kicking and knocked a spruce pole, which served as a divider in the stall, against Mr. Mooney's left side, severely bruising him. Although extremely painful, the hurt is not of a serious nature.

Two Gallians were recently fined by Mr. Fane, J. P., for setting out fires. Three others, who were emulating some of their "white" neighbors, by having a lively but foolish quarrel, were bound over to keep the peace.

Newspapers and magazines still fail to arrive regularly. Where the fault lies we don't know, but have been told it is at the Fort. Why doesn't Monday's Bulletin arrive the week it is printed? It has come two or three times, and ought to do so always.

Although this settlement is not large, we captured some 50 prizes at the late show and about a third of the money offered.

EGG LAKE.

Several thrashers are working a short distance south of Egg Lake this week.

N. E. Logan again began to thresh yesterday.

Joe Page is building a new frame granary.

Considerable plowing has been done here this fall, and as quite a lot of land is under fallow, the farmers will be ready for an early start next spring.

Fred Beaudry lost another horse last week. It fell down in crossing a creek and must have hurt itself internally, as it died shortly after it got out.

Work has been commenced on the new church, and the building is now pretty well advanced. Rev. Father Simolin evidently expects to finish soon, as he has announced that he will not hold any more services in the schoolhouse.

John Laronde and his son, and Octave Savard have gone to the Landing with freight.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bellerose, of Athabasca Landing, were here on a visit last Sunday.

Last Monday night we had a light fall of snow, and the weather, though very mild, was stormy and disagreeable for several days. Thursday, however, was bright and pleasant, and we may have good weather for a long time yet.

November 6th, '03.

POPLAR LAKE

The English church concert in Poplar Lake schoolhouse on Friday evening, November 6th, was a decided success. A good program was rendered to a large crowd and all seemed to enjoy themselves. There was a large turnout from Poplar Lake and several bus loads came out from Edmonton; Rev. Bishop Pinkham, of Calgary, Rev. Rural Dean d'Easum, of Fort Saskatchewan; Rev. H. A. Gray, of Edmonton, and Rev. Rickard, the local clergyman, were all present and added much in the enjoyment of the evening. Rev. d'Easum acted as chairman in his usual able and witty manner. Mr. H. Barnes in his solos contributed largely to the success of the program. The songs of Mr. Lavoie and of Mr. Beffrage were well received by the audience, who showed their appreciation by demanding encores.

Rev. Bishop Pinkham on behalf of the married men, moved a vote of thanks to the ladies who had assisted so ably in providing the refreshments. Rev. Rickard on behalf of the bachelors, seconded the motion in a pleasing way. Rev. H. A. Gray, in a very interesting speech, called back to the chairman reminiscences of their college days together. Rev. d'Easum gave a very pleasing recitation of a ricket match way down in "Trisco." Rev. Rickard moved a vote of thanks to the chairman and to all those who assisted in the program.

The following is the program: Instrumental, H. Barnes. Song, Rev. d'Easum. Song, Mr. Beffrage. Song, V. Gaffner. Reading, Mr. McKinnick. Recitation, Rev. d'Easum.

At this point dainty refreshments were served, which were greatly enjoyed. The program then proceeded as follows:

LEAD TO EDMONTON

EDMONTON is the centre of attraction of the North-West Territories today. No place in the west occupies such an unique and enviable position. It being the centre of the largest and richest agricultural and mixed farming district in Canada.

The future coal supply depot for the Territories, hence the future manufacturing metropolis of the country. The coming great railway centre of the west. The gateway to the great agricultural, fur and timber country to the north and the distributing point for an area exceeding 900,000 square miles. The extent and far reaching trade of Edmonton is a source of wonderment and surprise to visitors but is only an indication of what it is going to become. Edmonton is to-day one of the greatest distributing points of the world, forwarding goods over an area six times the size of the British Isles.
